From the Director: Matt Sheehy

Hello Everyone!

Are you getting excited about STEEL MAGNOLIAS? I know I am. Auditions are a little over a month away and I've been working on the script for a while now.

As you may know, 2017 marks the 30th anniversary of this play's debut. Back in 1987, it was pretty much an instant success and work began on a movie version almost as soon as the play was staged.

The player's last produced it for the stage back in 2003 and it was a great success for us at the time. I really hope that the run of success for this material will continue for us in the Spring of 2017. With your help I believe it can. Make sure you get the word out that this play is coming. Come out and audition. Volunteer to help back stage or front of the house. All these ways and more will help to ensure we succeed! What to get involved? Please contact me directly at: scsplayersorg@yahoo.com.

Thanks!

From the President, Matthew Sheehy

Hello All

Happy New Year and welcome to 2017. Hope your holidays were awesome. As you saw on page one of this newsletter, we are hosting a New Year Holiday get together on Sunday, January 8th. I really hope you can make it out to this event as it will be our first opportunity in 2017 to gather together. An eVite will be going out soon and really hope you RSVP in the affirmative. Please feel free to bring your family and friends... the more the merrier.

As I am sure you are aware, we will be staging STEEL MAGNOLIAS in May of 2017 and I will be director. Its been 7 years since my last directing gig (2010's GUILTY CONSCIENCE) and I hope everyone is as excited about this show as I am. It's a great script and with the right cast of talented women it really plays on the emotions. I think our audience will really enjoy this one.

Thanks again for being a member of the SCSP!

Theater Review: Murder on the Nile

Review by Michelle Neuwirth Gray

The play MURDER ON THE NILE, by Agatha Christie was performed at the Macomb Center for the Performing Arts. The cast consisted of two male actors and one female actress. The actors and actress proceeded to switch roles by changing hats, accents, and gestures to portray the other characters in the play throughout the show. The actors and actress were someone else throughout the play whether their parts were male or female. It was incredibly well done. The director chose to set the play in the mid-1940's during WWII. The actors were supposed to be performing the play as a radio show and due to the rain and constant barrage of bombs, only two actors showed up. When they needed an extra hand, they get the janitor involved. It was a really interesting to watch the show because even though the actors and actress were on stage the whole time as different people you had to remember that they were some of the other characters that were not on stage as well. The actors wore 1940s period clothes and then wore a variety of hats to indicate that they were another character. It was an enjoyable way to spend an afternoon for sure!
