The History of the St. Clair Shores Players as told by Les Wilson.

On The Road (con't)

The Italian Cultural Center began improving the facilities, they found they needed the rooms that we were occupying. First the little Café expanded into the metal working room. We were moved entirely into the woodworking shop. A year or so later they decided to improve the woodworking shop by making it an all purpose meeting room with a carpeted floor. This necessitated us being moved once more, this time to what had been the boys locker room. We were first allowed a small section of the area, but as time moved on we began taking over more and more of the space. At one point we occupied over half of the area sharing it with the Country Dancing group and the Custodial repair shop. We had two rooms with locks where we stored our lights, tools, props and our ever increasing supply of costumes. The rest, unfortunately, was stored out in the open where anyone could help themselves if they so desired.

We had succeeded in having good relations with the Center from 1979 on. Maybe, at times we may have felt that we were discriminated against, but for the most part, most of the rulings against us were truly justified on their part. No other organization in Warren or St. Clair Shores would be as accommodating as the Italian Cultural Center had been to us.

In June of 2004 the Italian Cultural Center sold their building and we were once again forced to pack up and move. This time we received a tip on a new location from a non-member who had read of our plight in the Macomb Daily Newspaper. She sent an email to our website encouraging us to contact her church which was in the process of completing a new multi-purpose center. Contact was made and soon we had a new home at the Luther Center of the First English Evangelical Lutheran Church in Grosse Pointe Woods. We did several shows there before we moved once again. A Few Words from the President

Hi Guys,

I just wanted to thank everyone for an awesome season!

I especially want to give the Board of Directors a very large "Thank You" for giving their time and effort this past year. Without you, we would not be continuing on to our 51st Season!

I am extremely grateful to the entire membership for their continued support. I was very proud of our group for putting on an outstanding show with "Guilty Conscience".

We'll be setting the bar a bit higher next season, and I'm really looking forward to the Players putting on two shows!

I hope to see everyone at our End of the Season Picnic for fun, food, and conversation!

Scott Smith,
President

History of the St. Clair Shores Players (con't)

Bringing People Together

The St. Clair Shores Players has been a wonderful means of bringing people together, to enjoy not only bringing live theater to the community, but forming life long friendships with like minded people who we would never have met otherwise. It had become apparent that once you have been involved in a play with complete strangers, it feels like you have known them for years when the play is finally over.

The St. Clair Shores Players have been an exciting group, attracting over the years nearly 2,000 people as members. Many joined with the idea of acting in a play, but not all. Many of the members who had no interest whatsoever in acting, relished the idea of being part of the backstage fun.

We are one of the few organizations where there is no age discrimination. Everyone connected with the show from five Years old to eighty-five, joined together to promote the interest of the production.

Theater itself is a word with a magic ring. It calls up a bright and exciting picture. It may be people streaming down the aisle of the auditorium. It may be the wonder hidden behind the folds of the front curtain. Or it may portray the hushed and eager audience, waiting for the house lights to dim. But, that magic also works its spell on the other side of the curtain, behind the footlights. Anyone who has ever been a part of this world knows the thrill of life backstage. No one can forget the excitement that mounts steadily until the moment when the stage manager finally signals, "Curtain Time!"
